Specifically, none of the prior art discloses a system to enable the formulation of a multi-party investment contract, comprising: receiving means for electronically receiving from an ordering party contract data relating to at least one phenomenon, each said phenomenon having two possible future outcomes and a future time of maturity, said contract data including a view as to which of the two possible future outcomes will be the outcome at maturity and a consideration due to a counterparty at or after a time of matching, and for electronically receiving from at least one counterparty registering data including a view as to each of the two possible future outcomes; and a data processor configured to electronically price a contract for said phenomenon from said contract data and said registering data, including: applying at least one template of entitlement as a function of outcome to each counterparty's view to give one or more individual counterparty prices each equal to said consideration, and applying said ordering party view to each said template of entitlement to derive one or more implied entitlement valuations; and electronically match a contract for said phenomenon from said contract data and registering data, including: determining which counterparty will provide the best entitlement on maturity by comparing each implied entitlement valuation with said consideration, and matching the contract with that counterparty having a template of entitlement for the best said comparison.
